Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 16 August 2004.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 53, 54, 62, 63, 66, and 67 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Chopra (US 6,276,996).

Chopra teaches a lubricating planarizing solution. A non-abrasive solution without abrasive particles may include CARBOPOL ® as a thickener to achieve desired viscosity in a range from 10 cp to 20 cp, which reads on applicant's limitation of claims 53, 62, 63, see col. 3, lines 11-16. Ammonium hydroxide (so-called water and ammonia in the instant claims 54, 66, 67) may also be used in the solution, see col. 3, lines 55-57; col. 4, lines 1-3.

The examiner would like to remind applicant that a commonly owned reference is only disqualified when MPEP706.02(I)(3) A, B, and C are all met. (A) evidence is filed (to show commonly owned), (B) the reference is qualified as a prior art under 102(e), and (C) rejection under 35 USC § 103.

The burden of establishing that subject matter is disqualified as prior art is placed on applicants once examiners have established a prima facie case of obviousness based on the subject matter.

The fact that the reference and the application have the same assignee is not, by itself, sufficient evidence. There must be a statement that the common ownership was "at the time the invention was made."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 64, 65, 68, and 69 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Chopra (US 6,276,996).

Chopra teaches a lubricating planarizing solution. A non-abrasive solution without abrasive particles may include CARBOPOL ® as a thickener to achieve desired viscosity in a range from 10 cp to 20 cp. Ammonium hydroxide (so-called water and ammonia in the instant claims) may also be used in the solution, see col. 3, lines 55-57; col. 4, lines 1-3.

The claimed invention differs from Chopra by specifying the concentration of the lubricant-additive in the lubricating planarizing solution. However, the concentration and composition of each ingredient in the solution is commonly determined by routine experiment. The process of conducting routine optimizations so as to produce an expected result is obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. In the absence of showing criticality or new, unexpected results, it is the examiner's position that a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the claimed invention would have found it obvious to perform routine experiments by using various concentrations in order to reduce the friction between the fixed abrasive article and the semiconductor wafer surface during the planarization and provide the satisfactory planarization.

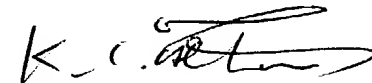

Changes in compositions, temperature, concentrations, or other process conditions of a process do not impart patentability unless the recited ranges are critical (i.e., they produce a new and unexpected result that differs in kind and not merely in degree from the result of the prior art). In re Woodruff, 16USPQ2d 1934,1936 (Fed. Cir.1990); In re Hoeschele, 406 F.2d 1403, 160 USPQ 809; In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980). MPEP 2144.05 IIA.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
